The "Countenances" exhibition is a selection of recent portraits derived from a larger series of portraits created throughout my career. The selection at the Moore Gallery marks the first exhibition in a public or private gallery devoted purely to my portraiture and provides a public glance at subjects that have been kept as primarily private artistic exchanges between the model and the artist.

I consider these works as created and arguably viewed in the pictorial tradition and highlight my interest in traditional form engaged in intimate artistic conversation with the subject.
